Pedazos. Pieces. Breaks. With this solid release Rudy Palos presents a softsynth approach to classic Hip Hop form. Instrumental in structure and profound in its honesty these simple statements signal a back to basics approach toward not only Music but Life as well. From the dusty groove of Imperial Fatigue, the blue, weeping synth lead of Commitment Malfunction to the midi playground of Rudeo Drive we hear living proof that when the brain is young the spirit is still vigorous and the beats can surely boom bap.

The LA schooled, San Diego native Rudy Palos has dabbled in various areas of the music industry for well over a decade. From warehouse parties in the Los Angeles underground, a weekly show on internet radio pioneer dublab.com, a stint in URB magazines art department, live sound reinforcement and record store gigs throughout Hollywood to sharing a 2004 Best Hip Hop Album San Diego Music Award for his co-production work with Los Able Minded Poets, this multi-talented young Chicano has witnessed the forefront of the Southern California music scene first hand. When asked to succinctly explain this release Mr. Palos answers simply , ‘this is the sound of reassembling the pieces of my spirit.’ We are asked to feast on these humble sounds; handmade and built from scratch.
